POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

The man whom historians may finally credit with saving the United States from invasion and possible defeat in World War II, strange as it may seem, died before the end of World War I.

Stranger still, he wasn't a general, or an admiral. He was a politician! A few days ago, at a Richmond shipyard, they launched a ship named after him—the S. S. Francis G. Newlands.

And if you happen to be the kind of American who always speaks ill of politicians — except, perhaps, George Washington and Abe Lincoln —it's about time you heard the story of that far-sighted California - Nevada pioneer, the late Senator Francis G. Newlands.

For without Senator Newlands, there might have been no Pearl Harbor to remember; no bastions in mid-Pacific to hold back the Imperial Japanese Navy. And the Nip army might now be directing its operations against the United States from bases in California.

The story starts in San Francisco, in 1870, when law and order—and dreams of a new Pacific empire—came to the West on the heels of the turbulent days of the gold rush. With his dreams and a driving ambition to help mold this New West, but no thought of a political career, came 22-year-old Francis G. Newlands, a brilliant young lawyer. Four years later, young Newlands married Adelaide Sharon, daughter of William Sharon, early-day titan and builder of San Francisco's famous Palace Hotel—and the Palace, in those days, as now, was a place where empire builders and statesmen met at luncheon and talked of fabulous tomorrows.

A decade or more later, with his dreams of a great, new Western America full-fashioned, Francis Newlands moved to Nevada, entered politics—and went to Congress to fight to make those dreams realities. There,in the Senate, his work began to make itself felt in vital reclamation and irrigation legislation for the West and in "The Newlands Act," which provided for mediation in railroad labor disputes.

Then, at the turn of the century, came the fight which may well have changed America's destiny—the first round in the war of the Pacific! Hawaii had expressed a desire to join the United States, but there were interests that violently opposed annexation. Into that fight stepped the veteran Senator Newlands, leading the battle for annexation—and if you turn to your history books, you'll find that the action which brought Hawaii into the Union is called "The Newlands Resolution."

That's the story of a man of politics who probably fired the heaviest broadside in the war against Japan—nearly 50 years before it began. And as the S. S. Francis G. Newlands slid down the ways, his daughter, Mrs. William Bernard Johnston, president of the Palace Hotel company, crashed a bottle of champagne on the ship's hull and probably thought to herself—"Except for dad, the Japs might be launching ships here, instead of America!"

"Post-War World" Subject of Club Speaker's Talk

Members of the Kiwanis club met Tuesday noon for luncheon with Dr. Edward Laird Mills the guest speaker and Rev. Sam Cheney, chairman of the day.

Dr. Mills' most interesting and informative talk dealt with the "Post War World" and covered many phases of pre-war peace treaties, as well as probable post-war treaties.

He said that peace would not be made by any one nation but that the big four allied nations would probably dictate this war's peace.

The Treaty of Vienna in 1813 gave the world peace for 99 years, and the League of Nations failure to give us permanent peace, may not have been due to our staying out, Dr. Mills stated, because there were many other reasons.

Dr. Mills told of the cultivation of United States' trade with Japan, as a small nation, but since the Manchurian incident in 1931, a gradual change in this country has taken place, toward anti-Japanese, and naturally a complete change after the bombing of Pearl Harbor.

Germany after the last war paid five billion dollars reparation. Six billion dollars was borrowed in other countries from private banks, none of which was paid back, making a profit of one billion dollars, to pave a way for another war.

Visitors were Verne Hardwick of Los Gatos, Dr. Ralph Field, Maurice Moore, and Joseph McKinnon, all of San Jose.

Chairman of next week's meeting will be Joseph Gomes who will introduce William Baird of San Jose. Mr. Baird will explain the "Origin of the Order of the Purple Heart."

Lt. Frank Lovoi Called Home by Death of Uncle

Second Lieutenant Frank Lovoi, son of V. Lovoi of Parr avenue, was called home by the death of his uncle, Joseph Ferrara of San Jose, whose death occurred at Ben Lomond from a heart attack.

Lt. Lovoi, who is an instructor at Victorville, Calif., where he recently won his wings, failed to arrive in time for the funeral owing to plane motor trouble.

Lovoi was a graduate of Campbell Union High school in 1937, and also is a San Jose State alumnus and now is a bombardier in the Army Air Corps.

Mrs. Mary Lanphear went up to Oakland today for a visit with her sisters, Mrs. Gertrude Stanford, and Miss Sadie Maxson, who has been there for several weeks.

Two tickets to the Campbell Theatre are awaiting Mr. and Mrs. William Burnett. Call within a week at Press Press office.

What effect is the war having on our public school system? According to the National Education Association, nearly 200,000 teachers throughout the United States left their positions for war work and the armed forces during the past year.

What will this mean when schools reopen in the fall? Obviously, it will be difficult, if not impossible to replace so great a number. Even replacements will be of a lower standard, and nearly one in every four teachers will be new. A shortage of 75,000 teachers is estimated, leaving about half a million pupils without adequate instruction.

We don't need to be reminded of the importance of our public school system to our democratic way of life. It is a bulwark not only against ignorance as such, but against the intolerance of ideologies foreign to the principles upon which our nation was founded.

The question then arises: Are we, in fighting for democracy on foreign fronts, neglecting democracy at home? Nothing would be more disastrous to America in the long run than allow our schools to deteriorate for lack of competent teachers. The danger is that many who have left the teaching profession for higher paid jobs in war work will not return when peace comes.

The National Education Association is urging Federal aid as a means of paying adequate salaries to offset the attraction of high war wages. Whether this is the solution to the problem or not we don't know. But it is apparent that while teachers are helping war production by switching into war industries the question is whether that contribution is great enough to offset the negative effect on the over-all social and economic well being of the nation.

FATHER, DEAR FATHER

The plaintive cry, "Father, dear father, come home with me now," echoes throughout the land!

But, father isn't doing "ten nights in a barroom"—he's hanging around the draft board. He still doesn't know if he'll be drafted.

About a year ago—as best we can remember—Brigadier General Hershey, who heads the Selective Service Division, warned that pre-Pearl Harbor fathers would have to be drafted. He setimated that it would be a year or more before this occurred. Since then various officials have made various announcements setting various dates when fathers would be inducted. Father is still at home—when he isn't at the draft board. Latest word from the Potomac is that he "may not be called." But if he is, he may not be able to answer—after all the suspense he's been through.

Maybe it would be a relief to crawl into a foxhole and have only the Japs or the Germans to contend with.

END OF COFFEE RATIONING

The OPA in Washington looked into its crystal ball and coffee rationing comes to an end today.

For the man who depended upon one cup of coffee in the morning to open his eyes and another to wash down his breakfast, the end of coffee rationing will mean that he will be able to face the facts of life with both eyes open.

This may have a far-reaching effect on the domestic war front, for we firmly believe that much of the bickering among civilian brass hats in Washintgton can be traced to the fact that they probably have started the day with one cup of coffee—and consequently with but one eye open. Things are bound to look fuzzy to them.

The end of coffee rationing also will come as a boon to dinner table strategists. It's difficult enough to solve a major personal problem over one cup of coffee. As for a global war—well, what could you do over just one cup?

But there is one thing to remember when you sweep your coffee stretchers and similar ersatz impedimenta into the waste bin. Give a cheer for our air force and navy whose work against enemy submarines has made increased coffee shipments possible.

MORE WORK! LESS TALK!

Last week a high government official charged that any friction or failure on the home front was largely the fault of "dollar-a-year" men in Washington.

While there have been many explosive charges and counter-charges in Washington recently, this one seems especially ill-timed. Only a few days before, President Roosevelt had taken drastic action to settle the Wallace-Jones feud, and had warned his lieutenants to refrain from public statements against one another. Why, then, were these instructions ignored?

The people through the nation are being urged to speed up the war effort. Official Washington could help considerably on this job if it talked less and worked more!

Confess!

Almost everyone likes a mystery—almost everyone enjoys the thrilling excitement of tracking down a criminal with an ace detective. But some are a little ashamed to admit reading mysteries. Well—you needn't be.

Maybe you didn't know that many college professors, bank presidents, great scientists, captains of industry, even the President of the United States all like their mysteries. In fact, millions of Americans are reading more mysteries today than ever before. Why? Mainly because these fast-paced, easy-reading stories are both relaxing and refreshing. It is for them—and for you—that we are publishing

ELLERY QUEENS MYSTERY MAGAZINE

Edited by Ellery Queen, famous detective of the radio, the movies, and best-seller books, it is devoted exclusively to the best in detective crime short-story literature. And we mean literature. The fact that a story owes its plot to crime and detection need not prevent its being well written. Short detective fiction that is well written is not too readily available. But we are finding them—in books, in magazines, in the files of famous authors — and by arrangement with other publishers as well as with authors, we reprint in the approved Reader's Digest manner the best detective fiction to be procured.

Such masters as Dashiell Hammett, Agatha Christie, Stuart Palmer and Ellery Queen are to be found in it. But stories are selected on their merits, not on author's names. Tough and suave, casual and swift, comic and tragic, they are mingled with refreshing variety and stimulating change of pace. Rare gems, fit for the most critical, delightful to the most naive. You will find the new magazine well printed — sharp and clear, kind to the eyes. You will find the size same as The Reader's Digest —convenient to hold, to handle, to slip into your pocket. You will find the cover as pleasing to look at as a book jacket. And you will find the contents the most satisfying quarter's worth of good entertainment you have found in many a day. THE BOOK MARK by marty

This past week your Book Mark felt in need of a change of scenery so, amply equipped with vacation necessities, among which there were several books, she went over to the coast. But let me make a confession—those books that I took with me were never opened. They held no appeal—they were old scenery to me—at least that was my first reaction upon arriving at my destination, Seabright.

Quiet hours on the beach, where the wind played tag with the sand, the constant waves rolled into leave their calling cards of snow white foam, had their lulling effect. The second evening found me relaxed, at ease and content with life. In such a state of mind my first desire was to read—not particularly a novel and definitely not a war analysis story, but something different—perhaps a book that had in its context yet more substance to complete the lulling process. I reluctantly dragged myself from my comfortable reclining position and went in search of reading material. Happily I discovered a small volume of quotations in among many books in this house of a friend who had so graciously and generously invited me to spend my free days with her.

This book is titled "Reflections" and I am sorry to say that it is not on the market any more, but it is similar to "Elbert Hubbard's Scrap Book" and many of the quotations in it are excerpts from Elbert Hubbard. Permit me to give you a few lines here from "Reflections" that I feel will give you a dash of satisfaction and personal pleasure as they did me.

"The pleasantest things in the world are pleasant thoughts; and the great art of life is to have as many of them as possible." —Montaigne.

"If I had my life to live over again, I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week; for perhaps the parts of my brain now atrophied would thus have been kept active through use. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness, and may possibly be injurious to the intellect, and more probably to the moral character, by enfeebling the emotional part of our nature." — Darwin.

"Book love, my friends, is your pass to the greatest, the purest, and the most perfect pleasure that God has prepared for His creatures. It lasts when all other pleasures fade. It will support you when all other recreations are gone. It will last you until your death. It will make your hours pleasant to you as long as you live." Author Unknown.

Cookers Should Be Tested

With home canning of vegetables so important this year, pressure cookers should be kept in perfect condition at all times for complete preservation of foods.

Through the Red Cross comes the information that the Beene Pump company, 270 West Julian street, San Jose, will test pressure cookers for accuracy.

The pressure indicater on the top of the cooker may be unscrewed and taken to the company and a test will be given free of charge. Care should be exercised as the instrument is delicate and easily broken. The complete cooker may also be taken for the test.

Nationwide Molly Pitcher Tag Day

Washington, D. C.—On August 4th, Molly Pitcher is stepping out of the pages of American history to sell War Bonds and Stamps. The gal who carried water to thirsty soldiers during the blistering Revolutionary Battle of Monmouth and took over her husband's cannon when he was wounded, has long been a symbol of the heroism of American women.

In her honor, brigades of modern Molly Pitchers will take their stands on nation-wide Molly Pitcher Day at street corners, building entrances, and in public places to sell the bonds and stamps that back up our modern fighting men.

A red-white-and-blue Molly Pitcher Tag will be given to everyone who purchases a bond or stamp on that day. Members of the American Legion Auxiliary, and of the Independent Food Distributors Council unit of Molly Pitchers, will aid and augment local Women's War Savings Staffs to make up the volunteer sales force. They will use water pitchers to hold their supplies of tags and War Stamps. The slogan on the tags will read "Fill the Pitcher with Bonds and Stamps on Molly Pitcher Day," and the goal of the sales force will be to "tag" the total population.

Are you fighting mad about this war? Does it mean anything to you personally? Then dig down and buy more and more War Bonds.

WOMEN AT WAR

Sophia

Mrs. Kimball and Mrs. Worthington, dressed soberly and wearing their best black gloves, walked along the stony country road back toward Sophia Hardy's farm, to pay their visit of condolence.

"How do you reckon she'll be bearing up?" Mrs. Kimball asked Mrs. Worthington. Both ladies wore their most solemn, funereal expressions.

"A mighty severe blow," Mrs. Worthington said. "Mighty severe. To lose your only son, the mainstay of your declining years. And such a dreadful death, too—to go down with a ship. Mercy!"

"The first of our boys from Hand County to go, too," Mrs. Kimball said, mournfully. "I wouldn't blame Sophia Hardy for feeling right bitter."

They stood on the simple stone doorstep, with downcast eyes, getting themselves into the proper commiserative mood.

"Come in!"

The voice was brisk and cordial. They looked up in surprise. Sophia herself had come to the door. As they followed her into the parlor they exchanged glances, with eyebrows lifted. Sophia was not even in mourning. The parlor shades were not even drawn.

"It's nice of you to come," Sophia said. "Do sit down."

"We came," Mrs. Kimball said almost reprovingly, "to tell you that our hearts are bleeding for you in your great loss."

"We know how lonely you must be out here," Mrs. Worthington said. "With nothing to take your mind off . . . off . . ." She sniffed and reached in her purse for a handkerchief.

"Oh, I keep busy," Sophia said. "I've just finished applying for the Government insurance on Tom's life."

The visiting ladies could not resist a shocked glance at one another.

"I want to get it right away," Sophia said. "So I can put it into War Bonds. My boy hasn't finished fighting yet, not by a long shot."

The ladies were so occupied with feeling horrified, so titillated by this callous behaviour in a bereaved mother—that neither of them noticed Sophia's hands. Under the folds of her clean print dress against the seat of her chair, they were tightly clenched.

Kidneys Must Work Well

For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at nights, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulate the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

DOAN'S PILLS

Fish are an excellent source of highly digestible proteins, are rich in vitamins, and contain an abundance of minerals in quantity and variety. Some fish also provide considerable fat. Seafoods are particularly notable for their iodine content, containing from 50 to 200 times as much iodine as other foods.

Need Intestines

With the supply of surgical sutures made from sheep and lamb intestines far below the demand resulting from increased war needs, farmers can make more available if they will take steps to free their animals from nodular worms.

Detachable "belly tanks" or auxiliary gasoline containers used by Japanese fighters to stretch the flight ranges of their combat planes are proving a boon to Yank soldiers in the Solomon islands. These supplementary fuel containers which are dropped as soon as their gas load is exhausted, are being picked up by the Americans, cut in half and put into service as bath tubs in the otherwise tubless jungle areas.

PACIFIC GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY
MONTHLY BILL

One Item in the Cost of Living Still Cheap

Cost of GAS and ELECTRICITY on P. G. and E. System compares with lowest in the Nation

Bright Spot in the Rising Cost of Living

RISING WARTIME LIVING COSTS have affected nearly every item in the household budget. The outstanding exceptions in this increasing cost of living these days are your dependable gas and electric services.

Among newcomers to this part of California, the low cost for the combined use of gas and electricity has caused widespread comment. This has been particularly true in the San Francisco and Metropolitan East Bay Cities where the cost of gas and electricity in average home use is the lowest of all the twenty-five major cities in the Nation.

For example, a war worker coming here from New York, Newark, Rochester or Boston paid an average monthly gas and electric bill in these cities of more than NINE DOLLARS. In Los Angeles he would have paid FOUR DOLLARS AND SIXTY-TWO CENTS, and in Seattle TEN DOLLARS AND FIFTY-THREE CENTS.

In the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Area his monthly bill would be FOUR DOLLARS AND TWENTY-NINE CENTS.

These figures are taken from the Annual Report of the California Railroad Commission and are based upon the use of 75 Kwh of electricity and 2,780 cubic feet of 1,100 Btu gas or its equivalent.

Low gas and electric rates in this area are the result of six major cuts in the price of Natural Gas since 1930 and six major cuts in the price of electricity since 1923.

Electricity costs no more here than before the war. Gas actually costs less.

Gas and Electricity are Vital in War Production even though they are not rationed and are cheap to use—do not waste them!
